LO QUE PUEDO HACER POR TI

With good practices in interfaces development, I can turn that visual prototype you have in your company into an application, easy to maintain, an interface that helps convey that message you want to send to your customers or users. With the use of current technologies such as React, I can make a high-performance spa(single page application) that make the loading speed much lower so that your company provides a better experience to its users and saves on infrastructure costs
